Greetings,

As an accomplished Project Practitioner with a proven ability to drive productivity and effectiveness, I deliver results. I am a seasoned implementer, with expert subject knowledge, and rigorous analytics that are uniquely "Tony V". Using this recipe enables stakeholders to meet their deliverables. My core strengths include managing both Technical and Business initiatives with data driven analysis and reporting specialties, process optimization, and overall project operations.

I develop and maintained strong relationships at both project and executive levels. I drove strategic Technical and Business goals, oversaw engineering and functional specifications, and generated and maintained detailed implementation plans. I have been responsible for overall project budget and project profitability. Led global cross-functional teams and their associated work streams throughout the implementation. I provided governance, structure, and stewardship and worked with teams to monitor/drive stakeholder communications. Led scrum style meetings and facilitated Agile techniques and principals.

Selected Achievements

- Identified and investigated inefficiencies within the reporting and content environment found to be capping revenue growth and responded by developing solutions that streamlined business reporting and connected multiple IT and Business functions to a single reporting platform.
- Enabled 3,000+ users cutting cycle times and accelerating analytics-driven decision making by implementing cloud-based content visualization and analytical tools.
- Engaged stakeholders on custom and OOB IT solutions related to CRM and case management tools, opportunity and quote management, product configuration, standard and advanced customer services, and forecasting/planning tools.
